Are YOU ready!? Only a few days to go before meeting in Vancouver for the ISES conference! Whether taking a stroll along the trails and beaches of University of British Columbia (UBC) or experiencing the delightful surrounding area that Vancouver has to offer, the weather forecast promises warmth and sunshine throughout the first two weeks of August.

The Canadian Local Organising Committee is looking forward to welcoming everyone to Vancouver where you are sure to enjoy the beautiful UBC setting. The four conference plenary speakers are presenting talks on diverse and stimulating topics and the conference content reflects a rich array of scientific research relevant to Equitation Science. Demonstration Day is to be held at the Southlands Riding Club where outstanding horses and riders, along with some of the finest equestrian professionals from British Columbia (BC) and around the world will illustrate putting Equitation Science theory into practice.

The conference is open to anyone with an interest in Equitation Science. Whilst the online registration is now closed, you can still register onsite for either the entire three days, or a single day. Availability is limited and registration onsite on Saturday August 8th, Demonstration Day, will be by cash or cheque only.

The LCOC and ISES extend their appreciation to the generous sponsors that are supporting the conference:

- UBC Animal Welfare Program
- Horse Council of British Columbia
- Deep Creek Veterinary Services Ltd
- Equine Guelph
- Reiten Right
- Equla
- Handy Hay Nets
